

SHIELD INSURANCE ANALYSIS

INSIGHTS FROM POWER BI DASHBOARD, SEPT 2026

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Shield Insurance Company offers a diverse range of insurance solutions designed to safeguard individuals and businesses against a wide range of financial risks. With a strong emphasis on dependable coverage and customer service, the company aims to provide customers with greater financial security and confidence through tailored insurance products.

OBJECTIVE

- ❖ Developed a comprehensive dashboard to track key performance indicators (KPIs), including total customers, total revenue, daily revenue growth, daily customer growth, and month-over-month percentage changes.
- ❖ Analysed customer segments across age groups, cities, and sales modes to identify customer behaviour, revenue patterns, and growth trends.
- ❖ Visualized customer and revenue growth trends with an interactive toggle between metrics, along with dynamic filters for sales mode, age group, city, and month.
- ❖ Evaluated sales performance and customer distribution by analysing revenue contribution and customer percentages across age groups, cities, and sales modes.
- ❖ Analysed age-group behaviour across sales mode preferences, policy preferences, and expected settlements to uncover actionable business insights.

KEY METRIX OVERVIEW

- ❖ Total Revenue: $989.3M
- ❖ Total Customers: 26.8K
- ❖ Daily Revenue Growth (DRG): $5.5M
- ❖ Daily Customer Growth (DCG): 148.3

The current performance metrics reflect a strong revenue base and a steady customer acquisition trend. However, the absence of significant change compared with the previous period indicates potential opportunities to optimize growth strategies and maintain sustained business momentum.

REVENUE & CUSTOMER DISTRIBUTION BY AGE GROUP

Age Group	Total Customer	Total Revenue
31-40	9.9K	284.3M
41-50	6.8K	247.6M

51-65	3.4K	175.1M
25-30	2.9K	49.2M
18-24	1.5K	19.7M
Total	26.8K	989.3M

Insights:

- ❖ The 31–40 age group represents the highest revenue-generating segment, contributing $284.3M from 9.9K customers.
- ❖ The 41–50 age group ranks second, generating $247.6M across 6.8K customers, indicating strong customer engagement.
- ❖ The 65+ age group generates $213.3M despite having a smaller customer base, highlighting its potential as a high-value customer segment.

CITY-WISE REVENUE & CUSTOMER SEGMENTATION

City	Total Customer	Total Revenue ▼
Delhi NCR	11K	401.6M
Mumbai	6K	239.5M
Hyderabad	4K	160.5M
Chennai	3K	106.3M
Total	27K	989.3M

Insights:

- ❖ Delhi NCR is the leading revenue-contributing region, generating $401.6M from 11K customers, indicating strong market performance.
- ❖ Mumbai ranks second, contributing $239.5M from 6K customers, reflecting a substantial customer base and strong revenue contribution.
- ❖ Hyderabad and Chennai also make significant contributions, generating $160.5M and $106.3M, respectively, highlighting a diversified regional revenue base.

CITY-WISE REVENUE SEGMENTATION

Insights:

- ❖ Monthly Revenue: Revenue fluctuated throughout the period, reaching a peak of $264M in March 2023 before declining to $143M in February 2023. Revenue stood at $141M in January 2023, indicating notable variation across the months.
- ❖ Trend Insights: A substantial increase was observed in March, followed by a sharp decline in April. The $121M month-over-month decrease suggests a significant shift in revenue performance and highlights the need to further investigate the underlying business or seasonal factors contributing to the volatility.

CITY-WISE CUSTOMER SEGMENTATION

Insights:

- ❖ Monthly Customer Count: Customer volume remained relatively stable during the initial months before increasing significantly, reaching a peak of 7,081 customers in March 2023. This was followed by a decline to 3,885 customers in February 2023, while January 2023 recorded 3,919 customers, highlighting variations in customer acquisition across the period.
- ❖ Trend Insights: Customer acquisition remained relatively consistent from November 2022 through February 2023, followed by a substantial increase in March. The sharp movement in customer volume indicates a need to further examine the factors contributing to the March surge and subsequent changes.

SALES MODE DISTRIBUTION FOR CUSTOMERS

Insights:

- ❖ Agent-led sales represent the largest share of Shield Insurance's sales, accounting for 55.41% of total sales.
- ❖ Digital and direct channels contribute the remaining sales, with App at 16.03%, Direct at 15.86%, and Website at 12.70%.
- ❖ Overall, the distribution indicates that agent-based sales remain the primary channel, while digital and direct channels provide a meaningful contribution to the company's overall sales mix.

SALES MODE DISTRIBUTION FOR REVENUES

Insights:

- ❖ Agent-led sales constitute the largest share of Shield Insurance's overall sales, contributing 55.67% of total sales.
- ❖ Digital and direct channels account for the remaining share, with App contributing 16.27%, Direct 15.46%, and Website 12.60%.
- ❖ The sales mix highlights the continued importance of agent-led distribution, while digital and direct channels also make a substantial contribution to overall sales performance.

MONTHLY REVENUE TRENDS

Insights:

- ❖ Revenue Performance: Revenue reached a peak of $134M in March 2023, indicating a period of strong sales performance that may warrant further analysis of seasonal patterns, campaigns, or other contributing factors.
- ❖ Post-Peak Trend: Revenue declined following the March peak, reaching $69M in April 2023, highlighting fluctuations in sales performance and the potential influence of seasonal or market-related factors.
- ❖ Channel Trends: Revenue generated through App, and Website channels demonstrated relatively steady growth consistently going upward, with Agent and Direct showing fluctuations.

TREND BY AGE GROUP

Insights:

- ❖ Peak Revenue: The 31–40 and 41–50 age groups recorded their highest monthly revenue in March, reaching $84.5M and $66.8M, respectively. Both segments experienced a declining trend following the March peak.
- ❖ Older Customer Segments: The 51–60 age group reached its highest revenue of $32.8M in November, while the 65+ segment recorded its peak revenue of $42.2M in December, indicating stronger performance toward the end of the period.
- ❖ Younger Age Groups: Revenue from the 18–24 and 25–30 segments remained relatively stable throughout the period. The 25–30 group showed some moderate fluctuations but generally maintained a consistent revenue trend.

TOTAL CUSTOMER BY AGE GROUP

Insights:

- ❖ 31–40 and 41–50 are the largest customer segments, with approximately 9.9K and 6.8K customers, respectively. Their strong representation indicates that these age groups form a significant part of the company's customer base.
- ❖ The 51–65 and 25–30 segments follow, with approximately 3.4K and 2.9K customers, respectively, representing additional key customer segments.
- ❖ The 18–24 and 65+ age groups have comparatively smaller customer bases. This may indicate lower engagement among these demographics or differences in their insurance needs and purchasing preferences.

AGE GROUP VS POLICY PREFERENCE

Insights:

- ❖ Policy preferences are broadly distributed across the different age groups, with the 31–40 segment showing the highest preference for policies such as POL3309HEL and POL4331HEL. This suggests that these policies have relatively strong adoption among customers in this demographic.

Age Group	POL1048HEL	POL2005HEL	POL3309HEL	POL4321HEL	POL4331HEL	POL5319HEL	POL6093HEL	POL6303HEL	POL9221HEL

AGE GROUP VS EXPECTED SETTLEMENTS

Insights:

- ❖ The 31–40 age group accounts for the largest share of expected settlements at 27.59%, indicating that this segment represents a significant portion of the anticipated settlement volume.
- ❖ The 41–50 and 65+ age groups also contribute substantial shares, accounting for 24.96% and 23.04%, respectively. These segments may therefore warrant closer monitoring as part of risk and claims analysis.
- ❖ The 18–24 age group has the lowest share of expected settlements at 1.73%, followed by the 25–30 segment at 4.53%, reflecting comparatively lower settlement expectations among these age groups.

AGE GROUP VS SALES MODE

Insights:

- ❖ Agent-led sales remain the dominant channel across all age groups, with particularly strong adoption among customers aged 31–40, highlighting the continued importance of personalized, agent-assisted interactions.
- ❖ Digital channels, including the App and Website, show relatively higher adoption among younger customers aged 18–24 and 25–30, indicating a stronger preference for convenient, self-service digital interfaces within these segments.

RECOMMENDATIONS

- ❖ Customer Growth & Stability: Leverage predictive analytics to anticipate revenue fluctuations and develop targeted strategies to increase engagement among the 18–24 and 65+ customer segments.
- ❖ Age Group Strategy: Strengthen retention and engagement initiatives for the 31–40 age group, which represents a significant revenue-contributing segment, through tailored products and customer offerings.
- ❖ Geographical Expansion: Identify successful strategies from Delhi NCR and assess their applicability to other key markets, such as Mumbai and Chennai, to support regional growth.
- ❖ Sales Channel Optimization: Enhance App and Website experiences to improve engagement among younger customers who demonstrate greater adoption of digital channels.
- ❖ Policy & Risk Management: Use settlement patterns across key age groups, particularly 31–40, 25–30, and 41–50, to inform policy design, pricing, and risk-monitoring strategies.
- ❖ Product & Channel Strategy: Align product offerings and channel strategies with the preferences and behaviours of different age groups to improve customer engagement and optimize multi-channel performance.
